CBRE has a specialized aviation properties team that focuses on properties with runway access, including aircraft hangar facilities, air cargo facilities, runway accessible land for development, and entire airports. Our aviation properties team is led by Katrin Gist, a former aviation attorney and 15+ year veteran in the aviation industry. Our team offers a unique level of industry expertise to support these high-performance facilities. We have a deep expertise in the market with a client list that includes FBOs; MROs; aircraft service centers; private flight departments; ultra high-net worth individuals; airports; airlines; charter operators; airport property investors; aircraft manufacturers; and new aviation technology companies including eVTOL, autonomous aircraft, and electric aircraft. We work on both listing assignments and tenant/buyer representation assignments, and represent clients globally to help locate facilities that will suit their needs. When assisting clients to list and market aviation properties, our unique marketing process and monthly newsletter delivers our listings and information directly to over 10,000 key players in the aviation industry. Our team has the experience to understand your needs and the ability to execute the intricacies of your aviation facility requirement.
